Always stop to smell the roses
Even with a runny nose because you'll never see those roses on that day again

And pick your fights
As if they're years you're taking from your life because as far as I can see they add up in the end.

-It's just a simple line, but remember the good times... because they'll never let you down when you're alone.-

Never let a fellow man Put chains of any sort on you while egos may be large I hear the universe goes on forever..

And time will leave us all behind,
we may not be remembered...
So make the time you're living in the time of your life...

because you only get one chance to do it right-But I could always be wrong...
It's probably best assumed that life goes on.
