A call's not enough
I've been losing touch
I'm a lonely guy and I think too much
I followed my heart and drove to see you

I walked through the coldest night
I sat by your house under a street light
And when you pulled up, he kissed you at the door

Who's this guy and why's he with me girl?
Was I gone a little longer than you thought I'd be?
Did your lips get cold?

I want the world to know that Jamie broke my heart
I guess it goes to show that good things fall apart
And I let her go and I'm on my own
Let her go, leaving me alone
I lived, learned, loved, and lost

I went to the bathroom floor
The tile was cold but I was colder
And your hands on my back were filled with anger

You had a lot of nerve
To say you love this drunk you met on Sunday
But I never asked you twice if you were sure

Who's this guy and why's he with me girl?
Was I gone a little longer than you thought I'd be?
Did your lips get cold?

I want the world to know that Jamie broke my heart
I guess it goes to show that good things fall apart
And I let her go and I'm on my own
Let her go, leaving me alone
I lived, learned, loved, and lost

I lived, learned, loved, and lost
I lived, learned, loved, and lost
