The time has come, now,
to say goodbye,
so I will calm down
and do it right.
You might not know about me, but I hope you can see Iâ€™m happy.

I am gone now.
Iâ€™ve closed up shop.
Help me live on, though,
if Iâ€™m forgotten.
The lights are dim.
I am giving in.

I am on my way home,
but I travel light
because I know tonight
it wonâ€™t be that cold.
I know it wonâ€™t be that cold.

Iâ€™ve said goodbye to solid things, though overrated, it still stings
to let them go,
but now I must let them go.

Maybe I can be yours
and you can be mine
in some other time,
and I can stay yours
and you can stay mine
in this other time.

I am so at peace now,
you could break me into pieces
and I wouldnâ€™t cry.
I am so at peace in saying goodbye
