There's a thing we call heartbreak, but I don't think my heart's ever let me down my heart's never let me down
But I still cry 'cause I can't always have it my way
And sometimes cryin' can help ya out

Sing it aloud (2X)

And SCREAM
shred your lungs
I need to hear you louder now
And SING
as if you'll never sing again
And when the morning comes and your throat is sore you'll face the day like you did before,
with a smile on in the end

Then I don't know if you can hear me, But I can hear the sound of my own echo coming back alone and,
I don't know why that should scare me to be so lonely
But I can't stop cryin' out

Sing it aloud (2X)

Chorus
I want to hear you sing this song back to me, Across thousands of miles from home where I should be,
And I miss you so badly,
But I won't waste a simile
'Cause you already know what you mean to me, If only I could hear you,

SCREAM
Shred your lungs
I need to hear you louder now,

And sing, as if you'll never sing again
And when the morning comes and your throat is sore
you'll face the day like you did before,
with a smile on in the end

Won't you SCREAM
Shred your lungs
I need to hear you louder now
And SING
as if you'll never sing again
And when the morning comes and your throat is sore
you'll face the day like you did before,
with a smile on in the end
