History's shown you that answers can't be found above.
Life's great questions are tackled only by us.
Knowledge of mysteries that puzzle you learned men of the cloth.
We've explanations that men of God can't fathom.
Searching for your destiny
In a book that's not reality.
We solve the the Earth's problems
Thorough our science and technology.
Look back one thousand years when science was in it's infancy.
The church had the word, the world was forced to heed.
How many times they led astray, their flock was shown no mercy.
"It's God Will," not good enough, minds were closed
ignorantly.
We are here to she'd the light,
And your "Savior" is powerless to fight.
You must realize that your theology is wrong
And we are right.
Accept it for it's proven,
And the truth is for all to see.
Scientifically we'll answer any question there could be.
Chorus:
Obviously you don't see that we've become your deities.
Can't you see that we are your new priesthood?
Blinded by your piety and impotent divinity,
Recognize that we are your new priesthood!
Religious dogma that confused and shackled you.
Searching through the good book not knowing what's the truth.
You're only innocent, raised servile and unaware.
Unconversant to what is really out there.
Humanity must be erudite but not only from books
should it gain insight.
Through practice of sound philosophy comes cognizance of Man's own plight.
This you won't find in your church or your faith,
Though science has always attempted to explicate.
Chorus

Bridge:

Intelligence is lacking in your realm.

That is why we've come to take the helm.

As you have seen, you cannot turn to God for the solution.

Mankind has thrust himself into a sick position, lack of vision.

To those who blanket and surround themselves with gullibility,

There will be severity.

Yet again we will achieve the answers because we are more than God.

As you kneel and pray,

Genuflect our way.

Try and feel your way

Without our guidance someday.

History's shown you that answers can't be found above.

Life's great questions are tackled only by us.

Knowledge of mysteries that puzzle you learned men of the cloth.

We've explanations that men of God can't fathom.

Searching for your destiny

In a book that's not reality.

We solve the the Earth's problems

Thorough our science and technology.

We see the things that you can't find in your faith.

We are in command with men like Hawing leading the way.

Chorus

Which I haven't been spared.

From now on, I'll only know lovemaking through

An act of intense terror.
