Night's fallen, flesh's calling spilling in the flood some tears of blood and agony There on the beach lying wasting and staining the sands of time indifferently

Stranded on the shores of life
The fish's kiss - it still remains unanswered

Chorus
Bathing in silence, yearning to swim on a calm and quiet ocean urging to sin or to breathe with no motion while hearing the sound of sweet violence

Torch-bearer's burned wings firing all the arrows in a broken fantasy Star's fallen, sand-crawling dropping just like jetsam from a lonely ship at sea

Stranded on the shores of life
The fish's kiss - it still remains unanswered

Chorus

Until the day's end's a bitter wet bed seeking a soft place for a rest of my head Tender the arms which embrace the brave
I am fallen asleep in a watery red.

Chorus
