

Dark At Dawn

"The White Of Your Skin"

Visit "The White Of Your Skin" on MotoLyrics.com

[Dark Avenger]

- The young king is in love to a christian devoted queen, in craving prayers she bode the conversion of the King; she begs in copious weeping bonded hands and bent knees, her lips whisper the prayers but I can't hear what it means.

[???

- "Above the lake's waters, above the steel of a sword, above the earthly winds, above the fire above; stands a power supreme that all created in world; swear beloved husband, by this cross not by thy sword!"

[King Arthur to Gwenhwyfar]

With all the love I save for thee I swear my dear to you with all my strength before the cross I swear my love to you that a holy stream of light warms this holy prayer in every dawn guided by the hands of God enlighten you that all words all thoughts and actions which come out from me must be for thee my Queen by your side I have found the relief to all my sorrows I have found peace in the white of your skin I have found by your side the relief to all my sorrows I have found peace in the white of your skin if darkness fall within my being I beg my Lord don't let me go before the day I will return to see your face once more by your side I have found the relief to all my sorrows I have found peace in the white of your skin I have found by your side the relief to all my sorrows I have found peace in the white of your skin

Visit Dark At Dawn page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.