You were supposed to leave on monday morning
But you changed your flight to thursday night
I was supposed to take you around and around
This crazy town they like to call original

I have this feeling you're not coming back
Yes, I have this feeling you're not coming back

I don't want to be there, when you're going to be there.
I don't want to be there, when you're going to be there.

Now that you left I don't know if I threw up
The signs kept telling them that something's wrong
I called the airline, they said they would page you
But they were too lazy and unaware of the signs

I have this feeling you're not coming back
I have this feeling you're not coming back

I don't want to be there, when you're going to be there.
I don't want to be there, when you're going to be there.

Oh. this is happening again, the number 22
Is watching me watching you
Way up in the sky, don't know if you made it
Or if there's something wrong
I tried, and tried, to get you to come back
You never ever ever came back
