Well I don't know alot about her
But she, she knew alot about me
Her family seemed to love her
If what they see is true
Her friends all shared the good times
Man, that girl has love that girl has

I, I didn't have a clue then
That a kiss
Could change my whole life again
I walked into my room
When I was all alone
She told me I would date her from September to december

She doesn't know
Things will never be the same again
She'll always be seventeen
That girl has love

She kept all the pain inside
Now she has got nothing to hide
At such a young age
She took her own life
Now she's seeing things becoming
All dreams at night
She's a dreamer

She doesn't know
Things will never be the same again
She'll always be seventeen
That girl has love

That was to real to ever be fake
That was to strong to be ever be forgotten
That girl has love
love love love love

She doesn't know
Things will never be the same again
She'll always be seventeen

That girl has love
