I don't know a lot about her
But she, she knew a lot about me
Her family seemed to love her
If what they say is true
Her friends all shared the good times man

That girl has love
That girl has

I, I didn't have a clue then
That a kiss
Would change my whole life again
She walked into my room
When i was all alone
And she told me i would date her from
September to december

She doesn't know
Things will never be the same again
She'll always be seventeen
That girl has love

She kept all the pain inside
Now she
Has got nothing to hide
At such a young age
She took her own life
Now she's seeing things that come in
Our dreams at night
Shes a dreamer

She doesn't know
Things will never be the same again
She'll always be seventeen
That girl has love

That was too real to ever be fake
That was too strong to ever be forgotten
That girl has love

Love love love love love love love love... etc.

She doesn't know
Things will never be the same again
She'll always be seventeen
That girl has
That girl has
That girl has
That girl has love
