What do you think of
In your room at night while eyes turned over
And wonder through night skies

Do you stay up
And stare at glowing wires
You've said it now
The moon's gone and left me alone

Did you even notice that those words were in my heart
Could have stayed forever in this word of joy and I won't be long now
I don't belong

So alone, alone
I know it's wrong
I waited an hour for you

Recall the memory of one dream
Where all I wanted was Ice cream and caramel wings

Could have stayed forever if you weren't apart Didn't know I waited for this day to end up right where we started
But I know it won't

So alone, alone (To see against the wind, I won't)
I know it's wrong (But I won't pray)
I waited an hour for you (It's falling down around, like me)

I can't stop wondering
And I won't sleep knowing
I'll wake
