

Rose Blossom Punch "It All Comes Down"

Visit "It All Comes Down" on MotoLyrics.com

It all comes down to what I never said
When I'm breaking your heart just like you broke my head
You said I could believe you still but I didn't then
And it all comes down to what has never been

So you set me down into a padded cell
All I get today is a little taste of hell
You let me to believe you so you could shut me out
And now you rest assured beyond a show of doubt

Can I fall apart in your tired willing arms?
I lack the courage to admit you were ever wrong
Do I seem afraid when you turn the other way?
From everything I do that comes back around again

Visit Rose Blossom Punch page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.