Frustration overwhelms me, I want to rip my heart right
from my chest,
And with it pounding in my hands scream, "I don't need
this anymore!"

Is the view, is it better on the west coast? Are the sunsets as breath-taking
As the surreal words that pass through your lips? You are my escape.

Frustration overwhelms me, I want to rip my heart right
from my chest,
And with it pounding in my hands scream, "I don't need
this anymore!"

You know it (you know it), I know it (I know it), so many miles. (missed connections)
So why can (so why can) you read me (you read me)
Like the back of your hand (missed connections)?
I have tried with everything in me not to feel this way.
To grow up and realize your faults.

Frustration overwhelms me, I want to rip my heart right
from my chest,
And with it pounding in my hands scream, "I don't need
this anymore!"

(Frustration overwhelms me.)
Was yours the first time that we locked eyes?
