I've been hiding, lost in the love of another. I've followed the moon and a song and I thought it would take me forever to find a place where I belong. I watch a rainbow rise. I give you all i'v

I could never give you up, the way you make my love shine. I could never give you up, the way you make true love shine.

I believe you when you say you don't want to be lonely. I'll carry your heart like a bridge when you need all the time you can find to get the hurt out of your mind. I'll watch the rain go by an

E you all I've got.

Cause I could never give you up...
