I never knew when you walked in the room.
I sold my soul to a stranger, an angel face yea.
I never had this kind of sight before,
this kind of vision white, hang on tight yea.
I don't know, girl, you've been around.
Don't you go, don't you let me down.

One is such a lonely number, to make the world go
round.
Three is just a little too much to touch, now honey
To make the world go round and round and round.
One is such a lonely number.

I think about what this has done to me.
I'm going back to the start, back to school days.
I never had this urge inside of me,
to hear the sound of a heart fill the airwaves.
There's a love line, it's tied to the ground.
Leave you here, never let you down.

One is such a lonely number, to make the world go
round.

Three is just a little too much to touch, now honey
To make the world go round and round and round.
One is such a lonely number, to mend a broken heart.
Three is just a little too much to touch, hey honey
To make the world go round and round and round and round.

There's a love line, it's tied to the ground. Leave you here, never let you down.

One is such a lonely number, to make the world go
round.

Three is just a little too much to touch, now honey
To make the world go round and round and round.
One is such a lonely number, to mend a broken heart.
Three is just a little too much to touch, hey honey
To make the world go round and round and round.

One is such a lonely number, to make the world go
round...
