

Roy Clark "Just Another Man"

Visit "Just Another Man" on MotoLyrics.com

I'd like to stay with you for a while
And I have promises to keep
I could be happy here with you
But I'm a so wild oat to reap.

My strenght tells me my weakness shows
You make me think of coats and ties
Of babies, home security
And job that lasts from nine to five.

I could conjure up the constant state of happiness
But I know that I am just another man
And in knowing that I know that I'll get more or less what I can get
So I'll do what I can.

I have many steps to take
Reckless steps I cannot share
A mountain waits for me to climb
And I must climb because it's there.

I could conjure up the constant state of happiness
But I know that I am just another man
And in knowing that I know that I'll get more or less
what I can get
So I'll do what I can...

But if you should not let me go and if you want me as I am
And for a while I'll be a God instead of just another man

Visit Roy Clark page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.