Here comes that song again
They're playing that song again
I guess it will never end
They're playing it again

Here comes that song again
Here comes that old ache again
The story of my life begins
They're telling it again

I'll have to leave
I can't bear it anymore
There must be a place where
They'll play a different score

Here comes that song again
The jukebox must have found a friend
My heart will never mend
They're playing it again

Here comes that song again
The jukebox must have found a friend
My heart will never mend
They're playing it again
