In a cold December, memories can melt your heart
away
In a warm September, you may still remember yesterday
Even in the darkest night when dreams fade away When your love is gone you'll never be alone in memories

Memories while walking through a winter snow Memories when summer breezes start to blow When true love is far away, it may be yours in
Golden memories can turn the night into day Teach your heart to smile and live each day a while in

In a cold December, memories can melt your heart
In a warm September, you may still remember
yesterday
Even in the darkest night when dreams fade away
When your love is gone you'll never be alone in

Memories while falling leaves just fill the air Memories when springtime comes and love's not there Even when you cry try not to say goodbye to memories
Golden memories can turn the night into day
