Keep your eyes on the prize boy, she's not so far away

You got the style and grace to make her forget her evil ways

She's got that swagger, cause she knows she's been on top

She's got them staring and you're just another poor slob

She gets whatever she wants from them, it's like a joke

She calls and they come crawling

She crash down like a tidal wave

Rolling over a town, nobody's safe from her (Woah ay oh oh)

Once you see her face you just can't forget

You might want to, but your mind is set on her (Woah ay oh oh)

But don't forget you've got time boy, to sway her your own way

You got that devilish grin that makes her think

We're all just sinners at the end of the day

You walk with swagger cause you know just what she wants

She starts to notice that you're more than just a poor slob

She starts to flaunt that face and it will haunt you till the end of your days
