No communication
Ev'ry breath is like a treat
You feel the wind is blowing
But your heart can't stand the heat
It's dark, I've never been without you by my side

Tell me what do you feel when you die in your dreams

You'll never find the answer
This is the last day of your life
Come with me and we are together
All is left behind

Final expectations
They're moving into range
The journey to my book of dreams
Writes another page
It's dark, the fairy-tale was written long before

Tell me what do you feel when you die in your dreams

You'll never see me.
I promise to guide you to a place you once called home
And when it seem that they're drawing the curtain
A new sun shines on you

How can you feel this way
Who knows the truth about your live
And what do we have, when all leads us to an end
Now I see things in a special way
Come on and touch the universe
Now we're together, don't go away
