Ain't it strange how all of these people,
change their minds, day after day.

Different view, different opinion.
never see they're losing their way.

Can't seem to sleep through all of my worries,
Never sure which way you'll turn.

Hope and pray, you'll never go there,
Never see the midwinter burn.

If you tell me you want to leave,
I'll never hold you back here,
But please don't leave me before I see,
Conviction in your eyes.

Appreciate the beauty you're given,
Know you're blessed, don't ever doubt.

If you stare at your reflection,
You'll understand what I speak about.
