While we sit I see you crying,
Never even knowing why and,
Never told.

Ever since the day I met you,
I swore never to forget you,
If I could.

But seeing you unhappy,
Only serves to make my life seem,
Nearer good.

And every new thing that I find,
Every new thing I find about you,
Every new part of your design,
Means that I can't live without you.

To think of how I met you,
Is like thinking how they get you,
To the world.

However did I find you?
You can put your past behind you,
Now we're here.

As long as you will swear that,
You will always care then,
I'll be near.

And every new thing that I find,
Every new thing I find about you,
Every new part of your design,
Means that I can't live without you.

While we sit I see you crying,
Never even knowing why and,
Never told.

Ever since the day I met you,
I swore never to forget you,
If I could.

But seeing you unhappy,
Only serves to make my life seem,
Nearer good.

And every new thing that I find,
Every new thing I find about you,
Every new part of your design,
Means that I can't live without you.

Every new part of your design,
Means that I can't live without you.
