This is no god, this is but me a shivering spine with eyes that see behind that faces souls whose dimensions controlled by fear, and no comprehension Educated eagerness, erase from consciousness I am no god, I am but me a shivering spine with eyes that see Darkness is falling... still don't comprehend yesterdays calling the future to bend thoughts are derailed, thoughts are defiled, thoughts are deflowered and denied thoughts are abused, to be abjured we are but tools, we are but food Grey are the clouds, low is the sky hoping this clouds may feed my disguise hiding the sun, thickening the air if justice is done, there's no need to care... No way to care
But foaming outside, mankind and its depths them to abide? Their emptiness to forget?
Now look at these skies, they're crumbling, at least they will to deny, within me a beast? All together, get estranged!
Look around, taste the air, freedom joy, no despair nothing is what it seems close this eye, live this dream educated eagerness, enthralled by emptiness
