"Warning Bells"

Turn your head to the skies
Block your ears, close your eyes
Can't remember the way
I used to feel, back in the day

I followed you down
Green eyes

Spend your life hanging on
For a day that may never come
Wish I could make you feel
A little better from way up here

I followed you down
Green eyes

I can't decide
Hard as I try
If I should live
If I should cry
This is the world
I can't believe
That these warning bells are for me.

Wake and look in the dark
Hold your breath, cross your heart.
They say [can't understand]
[can't understand]

Where've you gone now
Green eyes

I can't decide
Hard as I try
If I should live
If I should cry
This is the world
I can't believe
That these warning bells are for me.
