winds on winter fields
in the smokey sky
wandering storm
storming war
demons' lust in starving lands the years are filled with lies and tears no twinkling stars in distant skies our fear is masked with careless smiles where are the gods, where is their might nightmares guard our life they are lost in the midnight air forever lost love can't fill their empty lungs with breath will there be salvation, a ray of grace as soon as grief began it shall end it shall end

while i stand
it shall end as soon as it began
it shall end
silent fading
it shall end
give us back understanding
