CUTTING ONIONS

by Rudy Silvam

My plane is crashing down

It's hard to explain

So I've been trying to drown

Out of sight this pain

Passengers can't know they wouldn't understand

What am I supposed to say

"Don't think I'm way too proud

I promise you I'm not the only

"Like any Captain I can't tell them I've been feeling lonely"

And they keep asking me why these tears in my eyes

"I have to lie so I just say"

Chorus:

I've been cutting onions lately

I run out of fruits

Please throw me some

Throw me some

I've been cutting onions lately

Soon it will be fine

Just give me time Give me time

I don't even know why I lost control

Maybe I learned to fly but not to land, that's all

"Even though I know that I let you down

"What am I supposed to say"

I've tried not to blink holding tears behind my eyes

I told my mother, I'd never live a life with lies

I wish I had time to apologize for losing ground

"But what's the point we're crashing down

"I've been cutting onions lately
