I'll drift amid this ominous calamity
As you aspire, I'll play your marionette baby yeh Get out that fire comb set and trace over all that is wrong with me
You only see the faults
You never really see what life could be

Bite my tongue and I live to learn
It's all I know

To kill your will, we'll take your mind to a different scene
It fills and spills, with all this greed and notes of green Save a little meaning stretch it sideways wrap it back around your eyes
You only see the faults
You never really see what life could be

Bite my tongue and I live to learn
It's all I know
And I'll let life run through my veins like so many times before Am I talking to empty halls?

Whisper, whisper is this too loud ?
