"Walk Through The Darkness"

We walked through the darkness
And carried each others soul
We rose after falling
And clean broke that silent cold.
Didn't want to fall
Didn't want to sink
But how could I speak
When I could not think
Didn't want the rain to keep falling down
But to have some peace
I had to stand my ground
So you stood yours and I stood mine
And we grew with a little time,
Now we've turned around and played
To play our cards again.
Maybe now we both can win.
I don't want to fall
Don't want to sink
I want to rise and look into your eyes
Even if the rain keeps falling down
I want to stand and take your hand.
