She's a cute girl made of plastic, she is sweet but so sarcastic
She was born between the times in the land of hate and lies

She knows she has to be strong, and everyone is on his own
And What does it take to move on and What does it cost to be wrong?
And where does she still want to go, and sometimes she just doesn't know that
But heaven never makes us fall, 'cause heaven needs to love us all

She's a smart girl (Ah - ah)
Her soul is fragile, she saw it all
She is fighter, she knows her way so well

She knows she has to be strong, and everyone is on his own
And What does it take to move on and What does it cost to be wrong?
And where does she still want to go, and sometimes she just doesn't know that
But heaven never makes us fall, 'cause heaven needs to love us all
And heaven never lost its trust, 'cause heaven cares about us

But heaven never makes us fall, 'cause heaven needs to love us all
And heaven never lost its trust, 'cause heaven cares about us
