On my way
Way to the stars
I found
You were there
Laying down
Next to a hole
Oh, hold me
You said
You had faith in God above
But it seemed
That you didn't believe in
In reality
In people on earth
In people to whom
You've given birth

And I forgot to call you
Well this is just what I do
And you stand there
Just like a wall that
I can't even try to talk to you

I wrote down all of your thoughts
Well, the ones you let me see
When you're not watching TV
You said you'd go for a walk
But that was three weeks ago and now
You spend your time counting the pages
Of a second hand bible
Pocket edition that you have
That you have

And I forgot to call you
This is just what I do
You stand there just like a wall that

I can't even try to talk to you.

And I forgot to call

This is just how I work

I stand there still like a photo on your hands

That you can't try to explain yourself
