Conscious mind
They tolerate you 'cause they think you're blind
They think that you would never tell what they do
When they keep abusing you
No respect for your kind

Ripped off your pride
Took every secret that you've kept inside
And now they say that you're a hopeless case
There is no place where you could hide
Your conscious mind

What's the price of humanity? What is the price?

Feed your anger, they feed your anger
Is it all right? All right?
For them you're just a number
Flesh that they all hunger
Is it all right? All right?

Conscious mind
Would they suffocate you and your kind
If they knew that you are fully aware
Of how little they care
All those feelings they share
Make you stay behind

What's the price of humanity? No human dignity
What's the price of humanity? What is the price?
You're thrown-away, you're part of their play
You just have to take silently
All the things they do and say

Feed your anger...
