Home is the hunter
High flown and contented
Home is my lover
All sins were repented
No wrong intentions
Words oh so fine

Never again will you let me down
Never again will I pine
Never again will you call yourself mine

Why did you change so
No real explanation
Still unaware of my humiliation
Calmly expecting life to go on

Never again will I be ashamed
Never again put upon
Never again will I turn and you're gone

I'd give the world to believe nothing has happened
I'd give my heart to the man I once knew

Oh how you loved me
Strong, passionate, gentle
Now you perceive me
All by incidental

Words count for nothing
Only for show

Never again will I suffer this
Never again fall so low
Never again but there's one thing I know

Never again will I suffer this
Never again fall so low
Never again will I love a man so

Never again, never again
