this highway stretches all the way through town and it's hard to hear when the rain is coming down on you and me in the back seat and I've got so much to say but I ain't much good at talking anyway maybe you were right, maybe you always are the truth is out there, honey on the back of your car I'm leaving here 'cause there are things I gotta do but whenever I come home, I'll be comin' home to you the phone rang this morning about noon and now I'm stuck in the doorway of your room I guess a taste of my own medicine would really do me good but it pisses me off and I don't know if it should

I'm leaving here 'cause there are things I gotta do

I know that we've had trouble in the past this ain't the first but it can be the last 'cause I know that some things do change no matter what I say and I'll give you all my love and you do the same

I'm leaving here 'cause there are things I gotta do
