I think I've had enough of this and it's got nothing to do with me but I've been living your excuses now all I want is your honesty so, let's sit down 'cause I just want to understand how loving could be hard for a full grown man you dropped the phone and tried to cover the blame but when the pushing comes to shove will you be calling my name

but don't let me down
give me something I can count on
don't let me down
tell me that it wasn't all wrong
don't let me down
don't go burning these bridges
don't let me down
don't let me down

whatever happened to the perfect life that you've been talking about and when's this master plan ever gonna roll out you're packed and ready at the drop of a hat you're at the back door claiming I ain't never coming back

I got you cornered like a dog on a chain and if the barking turns to bite will it be all in vain

tell me that it wasn't all wrong
don't let me down
don't go burning these bridges
don't let me down
don't let me down

I've been seeing through the bad 'cause I got faith in the good and if you're still calling shots I guess I did what I could and know we sleep in beds we make and die in graves that we dig and if you keep it all up then this one's gonna be big

don't let me down
don't let me down
don't go burning these bridges
