where, where do we go from here I've been searching for a place where the sky is clear take, take me to that place if ever you find it come and get me don't hesitate 'cause I've been running around i'm up or I'm down but I've swallowed it down and I'm getting better but wait, wait a minute more if, you don't see me coming I'll be running past the chapel door so, give, give what I never took you can write it in the pages of your story book and tell them the king's lost his crown and the queen's lost his crown I guess I'm better now but it doesn't matter

'cause I've been counting out the years we've spent here making history

I'm leaving my trouble and I'm burning in the sun all for another half a century if it hadn't been for you i would probably never see the way you fill your own cup without sympathy even though

here making history
here making history
