

Ryan Montbleau

"Maybe Today"

Visit "Maybe Today" on MotoLyrics.com

Daydream, look upon the world in hues of golden glory
Make it all a story.

Saving Graces by the dozen my they come so plenty Spread it out for many.

You're the hero.

Hinges all around you don't feel so

Good to give it all away

There's never been a better way

Than giving every drop of what you got

To give it up until it's gone.

Pacing, racing all around for love to come and take you
Far away and make you crazy

Flying like a looney bird and drunk with laughter

Soon the pitter-patter of the babies.

A house at home with healthy understanding.

Taking all you used to love

And thrown it out the window of the palace that you built.

Love means learn to love to give it all away.

Love means learn to love to give it all away

And it may be outstanding, maybe not great

Maybe just wasting time looking for an easy way.

Maybe ecstatic, maybe OK

I'm to blame for the shape that I'm in.

But you know sin after sin

I see the light and it's in the funniest of places.

I can't rearrange it

But I think I could change.

I'm gonna take what I got

I'm gonna give it all away, you know

Maybe today

Rolling, growing in the circles

Where they spin so quickly

Growing up sexy

Angels, of the highest order but they lose all theory

Never in the mirror see angels--who they really are

No they're in danger of falsely rearranging it

And throwing it away for it's a picture of an image

Of a picture of an image of a star, not who they are

And it may be outstanding, maybe not great
You've been wasting time looking for an easy way
Maybe ecstatic, maybe okay
You're to blame for the shape that you're in
But you know sin after sin
I see the light and it's in the funniest of places
I can't rearrange it
But you know you can change
You gotta take what you got
You gotta give it away, you know
Maybe today

Put your good where it'll do the most and
Don't you give it for the gettin' give to give it away
And you may feel the pressure drift away somewhere
A million little tensions
Turning into atmosphere
Yeah

Lately I've been vibing on the fact that My hearing's going, my sights are slowing down to shady
I keep on going but I act like I don't know it
That my heart keeps beating
Dreaming, meeting girls and waiting on a lady
Staring out the window
Thinking maybe I could find a good'un
Wrap her in my arms
Finally throw these things that harm me away
Maybe today

And it may be outstanding, maybe not great
But I'd be wasting time looking for an easy way
Maybe ecstatic, maybe OK,
I'm to blame for the shape that I'm in
But you know sin after sin
I see the light and it's in the funniest of places
I can't rearrange it
But I think I could change
I'm gonna take what I got
Gonna give it away
You know, I think everything here,
I think everything could be great.
I'm gonna take what I got
I'm gonna give it away
You know, maybe today
Maybe today

