There is no silver lining in the sky
There is no God judging from on high
There is no hereafter for us when we die
There is no eternity, it's all been a lie
There is no great unknown and no reason why
There is no order to the way things lie
There is no secret so don't even try
There is no salvation -- we just die

We hide from our fate, it's horror too stark
The truth still remains -- there's nothing in the dark
Nothing is our future, nothing's where we're from Nothing is the reason we die
