I got enough bad habits, enough loose strings
Now my hands are tied amongst a number of things
And you, then there's you

And I don't have to look for trouble when it's following me
Despite my vision only you I see
It's you, yeah there was always you.

So don't say it's over 'till it's over
A love song and nothing else to show for
Blaming me the weight that's on your shoulder love,

So whatcha waiting for you wanted me to do
I wrote a love song, a love song for you
Cause you don't have it right

And she said love don't shine and doubt you've chosen
mine
And if it wasn't your fault it surely wasn't mine
I said all the right things at all the wrong times
And if you want to keep your heart
Then give me mine

I got enough old bones, enough of these tones
And if it's all the same to you I won't be moving alone
It's you, oh you

And as the bullet left the gun you were falling asleep
You were telling every woman they don't know what it means
To you, I miss the wonder truth

So don't say it's over 'till it's over
A love song and nothing else to show for
Blaming me the weight that's on your shoulder love,

So whatcha waiting for you wanted me to do
I wrote a love song, a love song for you
Cause you don't have it right

And she said love don't shine and doubt you've chosen

mine
And if it wasn't your fault it surely wasn't mine
I said all the right things at all the wrong times
And if you want to keep your heart
Then give me mine
Give me mine

So whatcha waiting for you wanted me to do
I wrote a love song, a love song for you
Cause you don't have it right

So whatcha waiting for you wanted me to do
I wrote a love song, a love song for you
Cause you don't have it right

And she said love don't shine and doubt you've chosen
mine
And if it wasn't your fault it surely wasn't mine
I said all the right things at all the wrong times
And if you want to keep your heart
Then give me mine
