

Darren Hayes

"Love Is In Everything"

Visit "Love Is In Everything" on MotoLyrics.com

I was waiting for someone to call my name
You said a million strangers feel the same
The weight of the world, resting only in my head
Was all black and white,
when it should have been red

But touching your hand
Is making me understand
That love is in everything
The puzzle is hard
But it doesn't mean anything
The colours are deaf
And the love is in everything

I was trying to make sense of all this pain
You said that no one could stay dry in all this rain
I felt like a lone species in Noah's Ark
You said if the road was easy
I wouldn't walk that far

But touching your hand
Is making me understand
That love is in everything
The puzzle is hard
But it doesn't mean anything
The colours are deaf
And the love is in everything

Made me believe again
That love is in everything
The riddle is long
But it doesn't solve anything
Love is in every
Love is in everything

All the lights go out
When the whisper becomes a shout
All the footprints in the sand
When I do not understand

Touching your hand

Is making me understand
That love is in everything
The puzzle is hard
But it doesn't mean anything
The colours are deaf
And the love is in everything

Make me believe again
Love is in everything
The riddle is long
But it doesn't solve anything
Love is in every
Love is in everything

Baby
love is in everything
The puzzle is hard
Bt it doesn't mean anything
The colours are deaf
And the love is in everything
Yeah

All the light's go out
When the whispers becomes a shout
All the footprints' on the sand
When I do not understand

All the light's go out
When the whispers becomes a shout
All the footprints' on the sand
When I do not understand

Visit Darren Hayes page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.