Never alone again, never give up
Never believe in any kind of bad dream
Never been in danger, never been a hot shot
Never seen failure, never had a bad day
Baby, don't you know a wave is coming through, yeah
Don't you feel it coming after you, ooh

Something in the sky
Feels like a fire burning through your neighborhood
Something in the sky
Something changing all the things you thought you
knew

Never be late again, never pissed off
Never be wonderin', where'd I leave my car keys?
Heard it on the TV, saw it on the radio
Felt it when the sky cracked, this could be my happy ending

Don't you know a wave is coming through, yeah
Don't you feel it coming after you, ooh
Something in the sky
Feels like a fire burning through your neighborhood
Something in the sky
Something changing all the things you thought you
knew
Something wonderful, something good
Something that feels like I knew it would Something believable, something real
Something designed to really make you feel
Something in the sky

Never alone again, never give up
Never believed in any kind of bad dreams
Never seen danger, never been a hot shot
Never seen failure, never had a bad day

Something wonderful, something good
Something that feels like I knew it would
Something in the sky
Feels like a fire burning through your neighborhood
Something in the sky

Something changing all the things you thought you
knew
Something in the sky
Don't you know a wave is coming through, ooh
Don't you feel it coming after you, ooh
Something in the sky...
