Sometimes in a blinking eye
As a second goes by
It's a twist of Fate
Is all it takes to know
The underside the flip side of right
Life fulfills the promise that you know

Telephones are ringing voices cry
There is a shadow on the line
There is a wrong you want to right

Could you hold on
Cause I need some information
The words your saying they came out the wrong way
Could you look back
Cause I think that your mistaken
Those pretty lies
They Can't be right
Symbols and signs designed to read the wrong way

Sometimes in the dead of night
When the world has gone quiet
I look at you and I don't want to know
What it feels like
To be not by your side
But every season turns and there is an end

Telephones are ringing voices break
There is a ringing in my ears
There is a song that I don't want to hear

Could you hold on
Cause I need some information
The words your saying they came out the wrong way
Could you look back
Cause I think that your mistaken
Those pretty lies
They Can't be right
Symbols and signs designed to read the wrong way
I'm reading you the wrong way

Telephones are ringing voices cry

There is a shadow on the line
There is a wrong you want to right

When your holding in
When everything is wrong
When you don't believe the messages they're sending
When you look back
When you try to take it back
Your pretty lights
They can't disguise
I see those signs have been read the wrong way

Could you hold on
Cause I need some information
The words you say are making out the wrong way
Could you look back
Cause I think that your mistaken
Those pretty lights
They can't be right
Symbols and signs designed to read the wrong way

Ohh Ohh
The Wrong Way
Did I read you the wrong way?

The wrong way
Am I reading you the wrong way?
I'm reading you the wrong way
