Laid back,
I relapse on those days past,
Cos time flies fast when your mashed,
Wondering how long the night will last,
And I ask myself where those days have gone,
Don't seem that long since I was dancing in the field,
Smoking like cheech and chong,
Forever living on in my memory like a DJ crowd stealer,
They say times a healer but I still remember the days
ravers wore fearless,
And for those moments there was no segregation, Yeah sure we had bad boys but even they felt the music inhalation,
Love, peace and unity was the message,
They had it written on their t-shirts,
Stomping in dirt 'til their feet hurt,
And when a certain tune kicked in, the crowd went beserke,
Never before had I felt such belonging,
It's like since the day I was born this is what I was longing,
With my hands in the air as the rave is rocking,
I can't believe that was over a decade ago,
Compared, todays tempo, the music sounds so slow,
But I still love it though, that much I know,
So I turn it up a little louder,
And feel a little prouder,
'Cause reminiscing the rush is better than any white powder.

It's funny how time can fly,
A moment can pass you by,
But I'm just easy,
Yeah I'm just easy,
I relax and I close my eyes,
I have sounds I can visualise,
But I'm just easy,
Yeah I'm just easy.

I can still picture the day I went out and bought a ticket,
Staring at it and thinkin about the night, I'm gona go and kick it,

I'm not kidding,
I was ready to ride the rhythm,
And do the things that were forbidden,
'Cause my dad used to say live is for the living,
And when you're in the moment all is forgiven,
And those words are so true,
I'm not sure this is quite what he meant,
But hey, I had nothing to lose and very little to prove,
So I put on my dancing shoes,
And got hype for some sample grooves,
Pulling off running man moves,
At one with the hardcore tunes,
I raved all night like a loon,
And by the light of the moon we congregated like ants.
Each of us had one thing in mind and that was to dance,
Lost in a trance,
The evening enhanced by lasers, talking with strangers,
Cause you see in this place it seemed like there was no hidden dangers,
Waffling for ages, sniffing poppers and mixed vapours,
Echanging numbers written on bits of papers,
Your new best mate was a raver,
United together by mc'ing and dj'ing,
Remember forever,
As it seems like yesterday.

It's funny how time can fly,
A moment can pass you by,
But I'm just easy,
Yeah I'm just easy,
I relax and I close my eyes,
I have sounds I can visualise,
But I'm just easy,
Yeah I'm just easy.

Now I'm thinking bout piling into my mates car,
We stick a flyer in the window so all the ravers no exactly who we are,
Travelling from afar,
It's bizarre,
But on road tar we convoy with clevers that we're heading to the north star,
Prepared with no hold to bar,
We're always ready to go,
Tape in the stereo cranked up loud just to let the world know,
Bouncing in our seats in time to the beats,
A weekend release,

Like a raving retreat,
I feel I'm at peace.

It's funny how time can fly,
A moment can pass you by,
But I'm just easy,
Yeah I'm just easy,
I relax and I close my eyes,
I have sounds I can visualise,
But I'm just easy,
Yeah I'm just easy.
