In days of your when I was always right
And there was time to count the stars
Crashing down at night
I would hold you just like you were mine
And watch you slowly slip away with the morning light

You were golden, you were on the rise,
Burning with an urgency I could not deny
Said the world was yours and you were mine,
Flew to meet your glory and let me fall behind

Don't you know I see it in your eyes?
You can't let my gravity show
And pull you down tonight
I know I'm getting through
Know that it's killing you
Jove

And as the days grew long, I knew the sign
You could hang forever on nothing but the night.
Form an orbit I cannot decline
Sure of my disaster but never more alive.

Don't you know I see it in your eyes?
You can't let my gravity grow
And pull you down to size
I know I'm getting through
Know it's killing you
Know that you're coming true
Jove
