Sometimes I lie awake
Dreaming of you, forming your taste.
The moonlight swears you love me
But the sunrise takes it away.

Could you whisper my name?
Under your breath could it stound the same?
'Cause I've been stuck in replay,
This light by my bed's been burning for days

Maybe you can save me (from you)

I know I play the fool,
The way that I look must embarass you.
I can't keep the stars from the sky,
The way that my truth's in love with the lie

Should I try and forget how the wisps
Of your hair get stucvk in your mouth?
How could I when I've had your stare,
This trail of regret leading nowhere?

Maybe you can save me (from you)
Tell me you could love me too
