I always kinda figured love would pass me by.
The kinda girl I wanted, wouldn't want a guy like me.
I thought that she wouldn't look twice.
See I'm kinda crazy, I like the extremes so all of my life the girl of my dreams was everything nice sugar and spice and tequila on ice.
[Tequila On Ice Lyrics On ]
I was looking for a saint who was a devil of a lover but every girl I found was either one way or the other til one night at a bar when I saw her standing there Pretty thing in blue jeans with a daisy in her hair I walked over to her and introduced myself I said Now that we know each other if your not with someone else can I buy you a drink she said thank you I think I'll have tequila on ice.
I said Nice I was looking for a saint who was a devil of a lover but every girl I found was either one way or the other. This one here was different I could see it from the start Pretty thing in blue jeans kinda sweet and wilded heart. I guess I've forgotten down here in cancun lyin in this hammock looking at the moon up there stroking her hair picking out rice My babies kisses taste like sugar and spice and tequila on ice.
