I bet you got a chick on the side
What have you been trying to hide from me?

I always thought he was a good man, a good guy
Never try to put me down
Always standing by my side
And I believed in him even when he wasn't around
Well I'm not the kind of person
To make a fuss about stuff
Or freak out too easily
But this time I feel that something just ain't right

I'm too scared to ask you straight out
Afraid of how the answer will turn out

I bet you got a chick on the side
What have you been trying to hide?
I bet you got a chick on the side
What have you been trying to hide from me?

So what really happened last Friday?
You seemed too excited
Just meeting with the guys
That you see all the time
When I tried to call
You didn't pick up your phone
That must have been the first time you stayed out
Without telling me where you've been
And when you came to bed
It was the smell of sweet perfume

You know I've never been the jealous type
But lately you've been leaving me in doubt

I bet you got a chick on the side
What have you been trying to hide?
I bet you got a chick on the side
What have you been trying to hide from me?

I always thought he was a good man, a good guy
Never try to put me down
Always standing by my side

And I believed in him even when he wasn't around

I bet you got a chick on the side
What have you been trying to hide?
