

Saimons "Worlds Apart"

Visit "Worlds Apart" on MotoLyrics.com

She lays but nowone hears her cries.
Choose to node and then sigh.
Those drowning eyes aren't hard to find
But so easy to leave behind.

They starve for more now can't you see?
While you're watching TV.
And you change the channels but it won't change a
thing.
Pretend it will to put your self to sleep.

Don't mind, I don't care.
Won't change. 'Till I feel it myself.
Two Worlds apart.
There's no time, there's no line.

Their skies are full of dreams tonight
But we won't realize.
And you change the channels but it won't change a
thing.
Pretend it will to put your self to sleep.

We hope it ends and raise again
But we just sit there and wait for change.

Desperate dream and lonely hearts
Doesn't cut us deep enough.
You thought you learned the lesson but you never
showed me.
You thought you learned the lesson but you never told me.

We are shooting down those wishing stars
Keep the distance, is not your fault?
You thought you learned the lesson but you never
showed me.
You thought you learned the lesson but you never told me at all.

Visit Saimons page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

