I was once betrothed to the bonds of friends
But life too short to hold
Help me to go away

Woo-wee, wander for warmth
Cold spreads throughout my body like cancer
Consumed by a question, innately question the answer
An entrancer, traveling for truth portal to portal
To quell the parallel, heaven and hell, are we immortal?
A stepping stone of flesh and bone

A body loaned to serve our own
To atone is the undertone, don't postpone
'Cause death keeps ringing like the telephone
See, I don't know what direction I am heading
I don't know if there's something I'm forgetting

Before I give in to the dark
My greatest fear is bein' lost
Help me forget I'm almost gone
Before I give in to the dark

We are forlorn hope
She doesn't stop, the torment hands me ways to make peace
With myself

You remembered me
Our memories play like motion pictures
Love was limited, pain and struggle were fixtures
I view you as I knew you, reflecting like a mirror
My eyes are the windows to your soul, becoming clearer

Without a trace of time and space
I see your face, an angel's face
You and I just can't erase
The meeting at your resting place
And now I know what direction I am headin'
Now I know you're the skin that I've been sheddin'

Before I give in to the dark
My greatest fear is bein' lost
Help me forget I'm almost gone
Before I give in to the dark

I saw you, I opened my eyes
And suddenly realized that I was to Be engrossed in the fact that I'm already dead, you're wrong

Lost? Is this all a dream are we?
Lost? Is this all a dream are we?
Lost? Is this all a dream are we?
Lost? Is this all a dream are we?
Lost

Before I give in to the dark
My greatest fear is bein' lost
Help me forget, I'm almost gone
Before I give in to the dark

You can't demand, I can't escape
You can't drown and I'm as lost
Before I give in to the dark
My greatest fear is bein' lost

Lost? Is this all a dream are we?
Lost? Is this all a dream are we?
Lost? Is this all a dream are we?
Lost? Is this all a dream are we?
Lost?
