Fostered my fears for years I've disappeared within Reflecting what could've been I'd kill myself to start again

What's left for them? A dirty box with room to breath And I'll keep you there, I'll keep you there to never leave but

You would never understand it You took my love for granted nothing turned out like we planned it
Now my disguise more than what you see with your eyes
My disguise more than what you see with your eyes

And we try to hide ourselves breath in the lies
And we try
And we try to hide ourselves breath in the lies
And we try

I taste the shell and tell you wear a candy coat engulfing
You in my throat line me with the love letters that you wrote
My antidote, a lover's quote in pheromone You're deep inside but deep inside I'm all alone but

You would never understand it
You took my love for granted nothing turned out like we
planned it
Now my disguise more than what you see with your eyes

And we try to hide ourselves breath in the lies
And we try
And we try to hide ourselves breath in the lies
And we try

Yes all a part of, a part of you

And we try to hide ourselves breath in the lies
And we try

And we try to hide ourselves breath in the lies
And we try

We try to hide ourselves breath in the lies
We try
And we try to hide ourselves breath in the lies
And we try
