

Saliva

"The Key"

Visit "The Key" on MotoLyrics.com

[Unreleased, from "Under Your Skin" sessions (2011)]

Waiting alone for you to come home
So we can talk this over
We try to pretend that it's not the end
But you know that we both know it's over
Losing my legs and feeling I'm blessed
Sometimes it's hard to move
And the sun will never shine until I find you
And I'll never feel this again

Can you hear me
Are you listening
And I love you until the end
Can you see me

So don't break me down
Baby I don't love you anymore
And I don't want to talk it out
Because I just might lie to you
And tell you that I'm walking out that door
Packing all my things and gonna find somebody new
This time the key goes back to you

Out of my life and out of mind
And I'm all out of control
Walking away and falling behind
Does it blister your fingers from letting me go
You know it's all been done
You know the battle's still not won
Another dead cold love affair
And I'll never feel this again

Can you hear me
Are you listening
And I love you until the end
Can you see me

So don't break me down
Baby I don't love you anymore
And I don't want to talk it out

Because I just might lie to you
And tell you that I'm walking out that door
Packing all my things and gonna find somebody new
This time the key goes back to you

Baby I don't love you anymore
And I don't want to talk it out
Because I just might lie to you
And tell you that I'm walking out that door
Packing all my things and gonna find somebody new
This time the key goes back to you

Baby I don't love you anymore
And I don't want to talk it out
Because I just might lie to you
And tell you that I'm walking out that door
Packing all my things and gonna find somebody new
This time the key goes back to you

Visit Saliva page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.